

At the Toy Shop

Hondy and his mom were in Fun Fun Toy Shop because there was a big sale. His parents wanted to buy a toy for Hondy because he did chores well at home. Hondy liked the toy cars and the robots. The toy car was thirty dollars and the robot was sixty dollars. Hondy was happy and his mom was happy too.

Hondy liked the robots very much because they were very cool and they could move their arms and legs. Hondy wanted to buy one so he took a robot and said, 'I like it.' Then he played with it.

Hondy dropped the robot on the ground and the robot was broken. Hondy was frustrated. He said, 'Erm, mom, I broke it!' His mom was shocked and angry.

At last, the manager forgave Hondy and fixed the robot. Hondy thanked him and promised to be careful. Mom bought the robot and they went home happily.